Labour Day Celebrations, 2020

This year is a year like none we have experienced in over 100 years and with that Labour Day will be just as different.

As the home for affiliated unions from across our region the Grey Bruce Labour Council is the voice of Labour for several thousand workers in our region. This voice is particularly important in a year of physical distancing and limited numbers in groups/circles. The Labour Council in embracing this particularly important celebration of working people and hopes to involve as many communities as possible in the celebrations.

A variety of activities are planned and being planned. One such activity is something that we hope municipalities will buy into. The Labour Council has had a few flags made for Labour Day. Not just the 2020 Labour Day, but clearly more poignant in the context of this pandemic year.

I am writing on behalf of the Grey Bruce Labour Council in hopes of hearing from you in regard to the possibility of flying one of the Labour Council Labour Day flags in the municipality. Please find a representation of the flag below.

The Labour Council will be in touch as more plans come together, but In this matter, please contact either:
